ABSTRACT

Introduction: Prakriti is an important basic concept of Ayurveda that describes the constitution of an individual in relation to one's physical, physiological, psychological, and behavioral characters and is an integral constituent of Ayurvedic diagnosis, treatment, and disease prognosis. The description for Prakriti assessment in Ayurvedic classics is mostly subjective and the translations and interpretations made on the subject are grossly dissimilar.

Objective: The work of development of a Prakriti Assessment Scale with reliability, rationality, validity, and reproducibility for universal acceptance has been undertaken by the Central Council for Research in Ayurvedic Sciences (CCRAS), New Delhi, India, an apex organization for research in Ayurveda.

Materials and methods: The designing of the Prakriti Assessment Scale has been done following Ayurvedic classics and consulting various subject experts in the following steps, viz.: (i) Development of a comprehensive questionnaire for assessment of Prakriti, (ii) development of a user manual containing standard operating procedures (SOPs) for capturing predictors, (iii) double-blinded validation of the questionnaire to see interrater agreement.

Results: The Prakriti Assessment Scale has been designed based on standard classical texts of Ayurveda through various consultative expert group meets. The Scale captures various predictors/determinants for Prakriti assessment with the maximum possible rationality and objectivity. Further, this Scale has been subjected to clinical validation at 10 centers (n = 500) across the country. It may undergo further reductions and refinement to make it more comprehensive for clinical use.

Conclusion: A comprehensive Prakriti Assessment Scale based on Ayurvedic texts has been developed and subjected to clinical validation.

Keywords: Objectivity, Prakriti assessment scale, Predictors, Rationality, Reliability, Reproducibility.

INTRODUCTION

The individualized treatment of diseases is the unique approach of Ayurveda, which recognizes every individual with a specific constitution vis-à-vis Prakriti. Ayurveda classifies all individuals into specific types of "Prakriti" based on the theory of Tridosha (three humors as functional entities of the body), i.e., Vata, Pitta, and Kapha and their relative ratios. Truly speaking, Prakriti of an individual is decided at the time of conjugation of sperm and ovum, which may be broadly envisaged into seven types. Among these, seven Prakriti types are due to relative predominance of one dosha (Eka doshaja Prakriti), another three due to relative predominance of two doshas (dwi-doshaja), and the last one is due to the equilibrium of all the three doshas (Sama Prakriti).¹ Sama Prakriti persons are less susceptible to any disease, while the rest of them are always likely to suffer. Vataja Prakriti persons are more prone to get afflicted with Vataja diseases (e.g., bodyaches, joint disorders and neuromuscular problems); similarly, Pittaja Prakriti individuals are prone to get afflicted with Paittika diseases (e.g., acid peptic disorders, skin diseases and inflammatory reactions) and Kaphaja Prakriti individuals are susceptible to Kaphaja diseases (e.g., respiratory diseases, worm infestations, and itching problems) during their life span.

The determination of Prakriti has significant importance in the healthy/unhealthy states of an individual. This information can be successfully applied clinically in diagnosis, treatment (for deciding appropriate drug, dose, duration, diet and lifestyle), and prognosis of the disease. Even the daily and seasonal regimens adopted for promotion of health also vary according to Prakriti.

Further, the person-to-person variations in the manifestation of disease and, in turn, the response of medicines have also led modern scientists to look forward to understand the individualized approach of Ayurveda in treating the patients.²⁻¹⁰ Hence, the concept of Prakriti, i.e.,

"Individual constitution," has emerged as an interesting area for modern researchers, which was well established in Ayurveda thousands of years back.

Considering the importance of Prakriti, many research studies have also been conducted in various contexts like correlation of Prakriti with aging;¹¹ hypothyroidism in different Prakritis;¹² Prakriti and variation in platelet aggregation;⁹ correlation between ABO blood groups and Tridosha (Ayurvedic biological constituents);¹³ and whole genome expression and biochemical correlates of extreme constitutional types defined in Ayurveda.⁸

In all the above studies, it appears that different proforma have been used for assessment of Prakriti based on the characteristic features described in Ayurvedic classics. Further, the Prakriti Assessment Questionnaires used in practice by various renowned Ayurvedic Institutions like the Institute of Post graduate Teaching and Research in Ayurveda, Gujarat Ayurveda University, Jamnagar; Institute of Medical Sciences, Banaras Hindu University, Varanasi; National Institute of Ayurveda, Jaipur; Dr. D.Y. Patil College of Ayurved and Research Centre, Pune; Gopabandhu Ayurveda Mahavidyalaya, Puri; Bharti Vidyapeeth, Pune; Centre for Development of Advanced Computing, Pune; Vaidyaratnam P.S. Varier Ayurveda College, Kottakal; Translational Research and Innovative Science through Ayurgenomics, Institute of Genomics and Integrative Biology, CSIR, New Delhi,⁸ and currently used proforma of the CCRAS, New Delhi were analyzed, and it was appreciated that Ayurvedic classics are the basis of these Prakriti assessment proforma. However, a gross variation was noticed in all or in other words, there appears a lack of a uniform and standard Prakriti assessment scale covering the standard texts of Ayurveda.

Moreover, the characteristic features mentioned in Ayurvedic texts are subjective in nature and the clinicians/Ayurveda-experts apply their own wisdom and experience to capture these features. In reality, there is a need to recognize and/or develop a uniform method for capturing these predictors for the assessment and reliability of the data, which is missing from the public domain as such. Based on these observations, it is strongly felt that a Standardized Prakriti Assessment Tool is the need of the hour.^{10,14}

Considering the above facts, the CCRAS, being an apex organization under the Ministry of AYUSH, Govt. of India, New Delhi, has undertaken the initiative to develop the "Prakriti Assessment Scale" with rationality, reliability, validity, and reproducibility. In the first phase, a multi-factorial questionnaire has been developed based on the characteristic features described in Ayurvedic classics.

This article aims to describe the detailed methodology adopted for this phase.

MATERIALS AND METHODS

A comprehensive Prakriti Assessment Scale has been developed by adopting the following steps:

- I Development of comprehensive questionnaire for assessment of Prakriti by adopting the following steps:
 - Preparation of an exhaustive list of characteristic features (predictors) for assessment of Prakriti available in the classical texts of Ayurveda (pooling up of items)
 - Reduction of predictors
 - The method developed for capturing of each predictor
- II Development of user manual for clinicians
- III Primary feasibility/double-blind validation of the questionnaire through multicentric studies for construct validity of the developed Prakriti Assessment Scale.

The details of the work done are given below:

- I Development of Comprehensive Questionnaire for Assessment of Prakriti by Adopting the following Steps:
 - (a) Preparation of an exhaustive list of characteristic features (Predictors) for Assessment of Prakriti available in the Classical Texts of Ayurveda (Pooling up of Items)

All predictors for determination of the Prakriti as mentioned in the Ayurvedic classics, viz., Charaka Samhita, Sushruta Samhita, Ashtanga Samgraha, Ashtanga Hridaya, Sharangdhara Samhita, Bhavaprakash, Harita Samhita, Bhel Samhita, Yogaraj Nigraha, and Vangasena were compiled together. An exhaustive list of 583 predictors (Additional file 1) was prepared. Utmost care was taken to include each and every possible predictor described in the classics. As the terminology of the predictors was in Sanskrit language, the nearest translation of each predictor was determined in English after detailed discussions with Ayurveda experts of Basic Principles (Maulik Siddhant), Medicine (Kayachikitsa), and other disciplines so as to match the exact meaning with the applied (clinical) approach. Wherever the exact correlate was not available, definition of the Sanskrit terminology was given.

(b) Reduction of Predictors

The list of the predictors was thoroughly analyzed to make the following observations:

- Some predictors are repetitive
- Some have the same meaning with different terminologies
- Some predictors are the outcome indicators of a particular Prakriti

- Some predictors are difficult to assess due to ethical issues.

All the above points were considered to reduce the predictors in the manner elaborated below:

Predictors recurring twice/multiple times were removed to avoid repetition, e.g., Bhurikrodha (short tempered) is mentioned both in Ashtanga Samgraha and Ashtanga Hridaya; Dantakhadi (grinding of teeth during sleep) is mentioned in Ashtanga Samgraha, and Sushruta Samhita; Ashrita-vatsala (Affectionate to dependants) in Ashtanga Samgraha and Ashtanga Hridaya; Shighrakshobha (quickly gets agitated) in Charaka Samhita and Ashtanga Samgraha; Alpakrodha (calm & patient/less anger) in Ashtanga Hridaya and Ashtanga Samgraha; and Kritaghna (ungrateful) is mentioned both in Ashtanga Hridaya and Sushruta Samhita. The predictors that were merged are displayed in Table 1. The number of predictors after reduction was 471 (Additional file 2).

Some predictors were nearly synonyms or equivalents as they were conveying the similar meaning clinically, e.g., Apachita (Charaka Samhita)/Krishna (Sushruta Samhita)/Krishna akruti (Ashtanga Hridaya) were conveying the clinical sense as thin built only. As per linguistics these terms though are dissimilar, but are capturing similar features clinically. Thus, such types of terms were merged together, i.e., all such terms were reduced into one predictor. Hence, in the example above, all these terms were merged together to take Apachita (Krishna) for thin built. Similarly, the terms Sukumara gatra (Charaka Samhita)/Mridu gatra (Harita Samhita)/Sukumara murty (Harita Samhita)/Mrudvanaga (Ashtanga Hridaya)/Sukumara (AS) conveyed the meaning as delicate body; thus, all these terms were merged together as Sukumara gatra. Thereafter, the predictors were reduced to 250 (Additional file 3) and the list of the merged predictors is presented in Table 2.

Some predictors are probable outcome indicators of a particular Prakriti and not directly helpful in assessing the Prakriti, e.g., Bahuapatya in Kaphaja Prakriti; Alpadhana in Vataj Prakriti; Madhyabala in Pittaja Prakriti. Further, the predictors that are difficult to assess on ethical grounds like Kalahapriya (quarrelling in nature), Alpa vyavaya (less sexual desire), etc. were removed from the list. The predictors that were removed in this way are given in Table 3.

After reduction by following the above methods, the number of predictors was reduced to 215 from 583. The list is presented in Additional file 4. The next step involves development of the methods for capturing these predictors with objectivity as these predictors are subjective in nature.

(c) The method developed for capturing of each predictor

The methods for capturing these predictors were discussed in a series of consultative expert group meetings comprising experts from both Ayurveda and Modern fraternity (as required). After multiple discussions, the methodology to capture each and every predictor clinically was taken into account. As the predictors are features related to physical, physiological, psychological, and behavioural traits, they are broadly grouped into these four traits, which are further subgrouped into various domains, e.g., built, appearance, skin texture, etc. It was inferred that one of the following three methods can be applied for capturing the predictors:

1. The Anthropometric predictors that could be quantified may be measured by an appropriate scale. Ayurveda has been described "Angula Pramana" as a unique personalized way of anthropometric measurement where standard measurements of height as a whole and length and breadth of different body parts has been described in terms of the individual's own finger;
2. It is felt that some predictors mostly related to physical traits can be easily captured by simple observations like skin color, hair color, and other physical appearances.
3. Specific questionnaires have been developed to capture various predictors pertaining to physiological (sleep, appetite, sweating, etc.), psychological (indecisiveness, memory, friendship, etc.) and behavioural traits (brave, egoist, forgiving, etc.). Likert scale has been used for capturing the answers of most of the questionnaires. For instance, to capture the predictor, "Indecisiveness", the questions was designed as: "Do you take decisions on your own?" The answer may be captured as (a) Often, (b) Sometimes, (c) Rarely. The next question may be "Do you change your decisions?" Again the answer may be captured in a Likert scale as (a) Often, (b) Sometimes, (c) Rarely. If the answer to question (i) is (c) or question (ii) is (a) or both, then the subject is having Indecisiveness (Avyavasthita mati).

II Development of User Manual for Clinicians

The SOPs for capturing each predictor have been developed by adopting the above methodology. The same has been elaborately discussed in "National Consultative Expert Group Meet" comprising learned experts from various fields of Ayurveda and other contemporary sciences for content validity (Table 4).

As a preliminary attempt to see the clinical rationality of the questionnaire so developed, a Data Capturing Form was prepared and given to eight Research Officers (Ayurveda) working at different CCRAS Institutes across the country. The training on the use of the Manual and use of the Web-based Questionnaire for data collection to validate the developed Prakriti Assessment Questionnaire has been imparted to all the investigators.

The aim of this preliminary exercise was (i) to record the time taken for administration of the so-developed Prakriti assessment scale; (ii) to analyze whether the participants are able to understand the questions (in linguistics) and respond appropriately or not; (iii) to find out whether the questions framed are predictor-specific and can capture the appropriate answers, as required, in context of that predictor.

Based on inputs and suggestions received from the officers, some modifications were made to make the questionnaire more specific and scientific.

III Primary Feasibility/Double-blind Validation of the Questionnaire through Multicentric Studies for Construct Validity of Developed Prakriti Assessment Scale

For construct validity, the developed scale has been given to 20 Ayurvedic physicians, already trained on User Manual, at 10 centers situated at different geographical regions of the country for a sample size of 500. Online data capturing form has also been developed for easy collection of the data and its day-to-day monitoring. In this double-blind validation process, two Ayurvedic physicians at each center are applying the scale on the same person at different times (minimum seven days interval) keeping their findings confidential so as to generate the data of 50 apparently healthy volunteers at each center. Analysis of the data will be carried out after completion of the target population at all participating centers. The validation process is on the verge of completion and result analysis is expected shortly, which will be highlighted in the next article.

Future Strategy

After data analysis and inputs from the investigators, necessary changes as required will be made in the Prakriti Assessment Scale to make it more comprehensive and user

Table 4: Few SOPs as a part of user manual

Predictor	Predictors	To be observed/asked	Conclusion
Teeth
Texture	Ruksha danta (Dry Teeth)/ Parusha dashana (Hard Teeth)		If the teeth are found to be Dry (Ruksha) or Hard (Parusha), Vata = 1 mark, None = 0 mark
Size	Sukshma Danta (Small Teeth)		On observation, if the teeth are found to be Small (Sukshma Danta) or Big (Atidanta), Vata = 1 mark, None = 0 mark
	Normal Teeth
	Atidanta (Big Teeth)
Color	Danta vishuddha varna (White Teeth)		If the teeth are found to be White (Danta vishuddha varna), Pitta = 1 mark, None = 0 mark
Sweat
Sweda Matra (Sweat Quantity)	Prabhuta srishta sweda (Profuse Sweating)/ Alpa sweda (Scanty Sweating)	The subject may be asked about (i) How do you sweat on exposure to sun rays/exercise/physical activity? (a) Profuse (b) Medium (c) Scanty	From the given questions, if any of the (i) (a) or (ii) (c) or both, are present the subject is having Prabhuta srusta sweda (Profuse Sweating) (Pitta = 1 mark/None = 0 mark)

Predictor	Predictors	To be observed/asked	Conclusion
		(ii) Does your sweating interfere with your social and business life? (a) Rarely (b) Sometimes (c) Often Confounder: Weather conditions, age, hormonal stage and disease conditions	• From the given questions, if both of the (i) (c) or (ii) (a) or both, are present the subject is having Alpa sweda (Scanty Sweating) (Kapha = 1 mark/None = 0 mark)
Sweda Gandha (Sweat Odor)	Kaksha-asya-shira prabhuta putigandha (Putrid/foul odor especially from axilla, scalp, mouth and head) OR Swedano–durgandha (Bad odor of sweat)	The odor of the sweat may be asked from the subject by following questions: (i) Your body odor is (a) Very strong (b) Strong (c) Mild (ii) Do you need to use deodorants/perfumes, etc. for your body odor? (Exclude the use for fashion/fancy) Yes/No (iii) Have any of your family members/friends ever complained you for the body odor? Yes/No	The subject is having Swedano–durgandha (Bad odor of sweat) if any of the following answers are found: (i) (a) or (b) (ii) Yes (iii) Yes (Pitta = 1 mark/None = 0 mark)
Friendship/Relations
–	• Manda mitra (Few friends) • Adridha sauhridya (Fickle friendship) • Sthira sauhridya (Stable cordial friendship)	The following questions may be asked to the subject for assessing the above predictor: (i) How many close friends do you have? (a) Very Few (b) Some (c) Many (ii) Do your relations with your friends/relatives/neighbors last for a long time? (a) Rarely (b) Sometimes (c) Often	• If answer to question (i) is (a), then the subject has few friends (Manda mitra), Vata = 1 mark • OR • If answer to question (ii) is (a) or (b) or both, then the subject has a tendency of fickle friendship (Adridha sauhridya), Vata = 1 mark • Note: If the subject has any of (Manda mitra) or Adridha sauhridya or any of the two, only 1 mark will be given to Vata . • If answer to question (ii) is (c), then the subject has a tendency of Stable cordial friendship (Sthira sauhridya), Kapha = 1 mark friendly by making further reductions, which will be subjected for final validation. After standardization of Prakriti Assessment Scale, the study on correlates of Prakriti with genomes and other relevant factors may be planned to establish the concept of Prakriti on scientific footings.

CONCLUSION

The Prakriti Assessment Scale thus designed has been subjected to clinical validation at multiple institutes for reliability, validity, and reproducibility. After the completion of the ongoing validation, the data will be analyzed to see the level of agreement between two raters for each question and results will be presented separately in the future.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The authors are indebted to Prof Ram Babu Dwivedi (Retd Professor, Basic Principles, Institute of Post Graduate Training and Research in Ayurveda, Jamnagar) for his consistent inspiration and guidance. Prof SK Sathey (Retd Professor, Shalakyas) is highly acknowledged for his valuable inputs. The authors also express their sincere gratitude to Prof RM Pandey, HoD (Bio-Statistics), AIIMS, New Delhi for imparting his valuable suggestions and support at each and every step while developing this tool. The authors also pay sincere regards to Prof MS Baghel, Prof Mahesh Vyas, Dr Pawan Godatwar, Prof Baldev Dhiman, Prof AC Kar, and all the academicians and researchers of Ayurveda who extended their help and cooperation to make this exercise successful. The authors extend thanks to Dr Banamali Das, RO (Ay.), Dr Manohar Gundeti, RO (Ay.), Dr VC Deep, RO (Ay.), Dr Bhuvnesh Kumar Sharma, RO (Ay.), Dr Dinesh Barua, RO (Ay.), and Dr T Saket Ram, RO (Ay.) for their valuable inputs. The authors are also thankful to Dr Praveen Kumar Sharma, SRF (Ay.), Dr Arun Bhadula, Senior Consultant (Ay.), and Mr Prasanto Choudhury, DEO, CCRAS for providing time to time help in designing the scale.

प्रकृति मूल्यांकन हेतु मानकउपकरण का विकास: केंद्रीय आयुर्वेदीय अनुसंधान परिषद की पहल का एक अवलोकन

¹रेनु सिंह, ²सारदा ओता, ³भारती, ⁴नारायणम श्रीकांत, ⁵के. एस. धीमान, ⁶ललिता शर्मा

परिचय: प्रकृति आयुर्वेद विज्ञान का एक महत्वपूर्ण मौलिक सिद्धांत है जो किसी व्यक्ति को भौतिक, क्रियाशारीर, मनोवैज्ञानिक एवं व्यावहारिक संगठन का विवरण देता है। यह आयुर्वेदीय निदान चिकित्सा एवं रोग विनिश्चय का अविभाज्य अंग है। आयुर्वेद के मूलभूत ग्रंथों में प्रकृति निर्धारण का वर्णन अधिकतम व्यक्तिपरक है और विषय पर उपलब्ध अनुवाद एवं अर्थभी बहुत भिन्न हैं।

उद्देश्य: प्रकृति निर्धारण मापक को विकसित करने का कार्य केंद्रीय आयुर्वेदीय अनुसंधान परिषद दिल्ली द्वारा ग्रहण किया गया है ताकि एक वैधता, विश्वनीयता, तर्कसंगतता, पुन मापक युक्त से उत्पादनीयता: हो स्वीकार्य सर्वत्र जो हो विकसित।

सामग्री एवम विधि: आयुर्वेदीय शास्त्रों तथा आयुर्वेद विशारदों के परामर्श के आधार पर प्रकृति निर्धारण मापक का निर्माण किया गया जिसमें निम्न चरण थे:

1. प्रकृति निर्धारण हेतु एक व्यापक प्रश्नावली का विकास करना।
2. प्रकृति निर्धारक लक्षणों को ग्रहण करने हेतु मानक ओपरेटिव प्रक्रिया (SoP) युक्त उपभोगता गाइड का विकास
3. दोनों अनुसंधान कर्ताओं को अनभिज्ञ रखते हुए प्रश्नावली का वैधीकरण ताकि दोनों के बीच समानता का प्रतिशत ज्ञात किया जा सके

परिणाम: आयुर्वेद के मानक ग्रंथों तथा आयुर्वेद विशारदों की परामर्शदात्री समितियों के आधार पर प्रकृति निर्धारण मापक की रचना। यह मापक प्रकृति निर्धारक लक्षणोविशिष्टताओं को पूर्ण/तर्कसंगतता एवम वस्तुनिष्ठता के साथ संग्रहित करता है।

इस मापक को 10 केन्द्रों पर नैदानकीय प्रयोग में लाया गया है। इसमें और भी कटौती तथा परिष्कार की संभावना है ताकि इसे नैदानकीय प्रयोग के लिए और व्यापक बनाया जा सके।

निष्कर्ष: आयुर्वेदीय शास्त्र के आधार पर एक व्यापक प्रकृति निर्धारण मापक विकसित किया गया जिसे नैदानकीय वैधीकरण हेतु प्रयोग किया जा रहा है।
